

The Awakening

October 5, 2017

WOW ... My eye's have really been opening in the last month and a half and some ... at times I've had to stop and let things sink in.

I was first exposed to a 'conspiracy theory' when I was in high school. Mr Tony Centa, from the other high school in town, came to give a talk on the JFK assassination. I was sold, because of what I saw from the evidence Centa presented that the shot that took Kennedy's skull off, clearly shown on the Zapruder film, was not from behind where it appeared that, through stop action of the film showed Oswald standing in the doorway of the book depository not the 4th floor of the warehouse as they alleged he was.

My awakening started, I thought until tonight, in my early twenties at the end of the 70s. In the summer of 78 I heard The Sex Pistols for the first time and was blown away. The Ramones, The Clash, The Jam and others over the next few years played a big influence in telling me that something is wrong with government.

I looked at our electoral system and realized how much of a farce it is. I decided, because we used to have the option federally that I, as a VOTE of non-confidence in our electoral system, would respectfully Decline my ballot. Interesting that I knew at 21 not to take part in the theatrical farce of a system!

Of course I got caught up in life and circumstance buying in to the fraud without understanding the Full Disclosure right in front of me. I started to reawaken a few years ago as the Occupy movement was spawning. Looking back, ironically I was in Seattle for the second weekend of one of the original Occupy campouts. I became aware of the illuminati and secret societies.

My Mom and Dad, although being from Canada, met and married during the Second World War ... aside it disturbs me for the reason the First World War had been named The War To End All Wars ... another realization ... fuck ... Part of what I've learned is the Powers that be want endless war to help keep us, as humanity, divided. After the war they came back to Canada and started a family.

In the end both my Parents played important roles in the community where I grew up.

After the war my Dad stayed in the army for a while and got a lot of civil and other engineering specific training. One of the certifications my Dad had, from the US government, was in the nuclear engineering area.

Being born in an undefined generation ... sort of lost as we weren't really members of the Baby Boomers and didn't quite fit in with the GenXrs ... me generation. I was a bit too young to really grasp Baby Boomers and Hippies but do have memories of those times. Especially anti war stuff and, because of my Mom, a woman's right to chose.

Part of the Baby Boom generation I remember is Air Raid sirens. When they would happen every household were under orders to turn off all but essential interior lighting and close curtains. My Dad would wander neighbourhoods and speak to those who didn't comply. This was known as Civil Defence. I have his pin.

My Dad was a Mason and from what I've understood he, at one time, held a high rank in our local Lodge. He also had Membership in a couple other international Lodges including the Fellowship of Gibraltar. Secret Societies have intrigued me ever since. I have his One Penny. I have a broach of my Moms' given after he died.

Through all this he and my Mom kept a humble home, never a home owners always renting. My Mom worked in her Nursing profession as a trained RN after I, the last born, was old enough. One thing that Nursing allowed a woman to have a career and have kids was the ability to work nights. She worked nights and my Dad was home to tend to us. Late at night and in the mornings he would leave the eldest in charge so he could drive to my Mom to work and back. She never had the desire to drive until after his death even though she knew she could ... WOW ... the Grand Apple didn't fall far from the Grand Tree did it Hannah?

I've often wondered about his death ... scleroderma ...

A large piece fell into place tonight ... Anyone who knows me and has known me since my early twenties knows I've been an Anarchist at heart. Punk music and the scene helped me understand how utopian a true anarchic society could be. They also know I'm a realist, I believe in real things. One of the Mantras of the day back then I adopted was, No gods, No governments, No rules. I proclaimed myself then to be an Atheist.

I watched a couple youtube videos by Bill Turner. I've seen another one where he speaks a bit about Admiralty Law but the ones tonight were on Birth Certificates and Breaking the Chains. In his talks he speaks about the creator and explains it using the holy trinity and how the trust is established and can be delivered. In his presentation he references a couple of bible passages.

Just after my Dad died I, of course, was shattered. I was 14 and just on the verge of discovery, a time when teenage boys should start seeing his Dad as a good role model in being a spouse ... a partner. My Mom was left to fill those shoes and I think did a pretty good job. I looked to the bible and was reborn. I thought that I should be a good christian and read the bible so I did. It took most of the summer and fall to read it. I had joined a youth group. As I read of course I had questions ... questions that were inevitably never answered.

At 14 I was in high school. My Dad has introduced me in my younger years to electronics through crystal radios and Heathkits. It was early days as things were switching from tube technology solid state. Science and scientific methods were being taught to me. I was learning that if you had questions in science they could quite often be answered with experimentation to find the answers.

In my personal readings and questions I would ask the Youth Pastor to which his reply would be, "You have to have faith." In school I was being taught to explore while the pastor was telling me to blindly follow like a sheep in a flock. Conflicted I set aside the bible and gave up on following any theism.

After my daughter was born I learned from someone in another arm of the Fellowship, the Shriners, that through Legacy I could become a Mason. He told me a major tenet for membership was belief in a Superior Being. I knew for certain then it wasn't for me. I do hold, however, his my Dad's One Penny.

Anyone who knows me as a natural person especially for the last twenty years has known I've lived an altruistic life. I've always seen US as a collective.

The major piece that fell into place tonight came watching the Breaking the Chains video from Bill Turner. He had already mentioned the holy trinity; the father, the son and the holy spirit using a triangle in the pictorial representation. He then used that same triangle in explaining a Trust and what's contained in a trust is called a Rez. The Rez is essentially an insurance policy.

Part of my doing research has been into birth certificates. Bill Turner speaks about them and how they came to be through Admiralty Law, and the Law of Commerce. He speaks of the synonyms birth and berth and how cargo is berthed as it comes to land (delivered) and a receipt for that berth is issued as a certificate. He also goes on to speak of how a woman delivers a baby through labour which is exactly how a berth makes it to land ... Geez ... isn't it ironic that my Mom was a baby nurse working in Labour and Delivery before moving on to the newborn nursery to tend to those 'lost at sea' natural persons.

The Law of Commerce is known as the Universal Commercial Code and governs what happens in every commercial transaction. Any contract is a commercial transaction and a Trust is a contract.

A requirement for a contract is Full Disclosure.

In doing research on illuminati over the years I've learned of families and names like Rothchild (Rauthchild) and Windsor (the English crown, something I've always despised) and there being thirteen families who control everything. Although not a name I've also learned how the vatican has been at the helm of it all another institution I abhor.

In 1933 these 'ruling' families started to take control of the Worlds Banks by taking control of the US Congress and introducing the Federal Reserve Bank and Federal Reserve Notes. Every country that followed either English Common Law or the French equivalent quickly followed suit giving their Central Banks to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and becoming corporations under Universal Commercial Code. The Federal Reserve Bank took control of the worlds gold and allowed countries to print Notes for the value of their gold.

In order for the country to print more Notes, since they didn't have anymore gold, they made it mandatory, if you wanted to work in commerce, or as they put it work for living, you would have to register your birth or have your child's birth registered and in receipt you would receive a certificate or Bill of Lading. The value of that certificate, in days before when gold was currency, was the value was your weight in gold at birth ... worth your weight in gold ... wonder where that comes from.

These certificates, also known as STRAWMAN, is how we became chattel as our governments used them as collateral that enabled them to print more Notes and the debt based monetary system was truly born and rolled out globally. A New World Order was in place.

These certificates are ours being held in trust.

Bill Turner explained the trilogy this way now. We the FATHER hold the trust until we are of Age of Majority and the Trustees or the trust are the government. We are the Beneficiaries (Son) of the trust being held in OUR NAME ... using our Social Insurance Numbers (SSN in the US). The Government is acting as the Trustee who controls the trust.

As I said, Trusts are contracts and a stipulation of the contract is Full Disclosure.

In one of Bill Turner's videos he speaks of Full Disclosure and tells us they have indeed told us all about the Trust accounts. He speaks of The Wizard of Oz and how the STRAWMAN, Dorothy (self) used her Courage and Knowledge to help her STRAWMAN follow the Yellow Brick Road (ingots of gold brick) to the man behind the curtain (government/vatican). He spoke of the movies The Matrix and Pirates of the Caribbean as well citing scenes like gaining access to the 'gold' or 'treasure chest' with the fingerprint.

A huge piece that fell in to place tonight was the real and true Full Disclosure ... the bible. It ties in the vatican and how the church was the first organization that started registering births and holding our Trusts. The bible is clearly the vehicle of Full Disclosure. Although I don't follow any theism for some reason I've always understood the bible is an important book.

I am working towards taking control of my trust so that I can pass on this information to my loved ones on how they can take control of their lives, control of their trusts by either self appointing the position of Trustee or appointing someone else other than the government although if I do appoint the government as trustee i can also direct them as to what my value can and cannot be used for.

One of the most important lessons i've learned is that an understanding of the laws and legal definitions are important. As a Natural Person I will live simply by Common Law. If I venture into the commercial world I AM liable for any wrong doings I perpetrate and my Trust would be used to pay set fines. If I were to purchase something my account would pay for this things. As a Natural Person, as long as I do not harm anyone or anyone's property, I can do anything I desire.

I have recently applied for a Certified Long Form Birth Certificate from the Registrar General of Ontario. I am working on a document called a Factualized Trust that will be Notarized once completed and signed in front of a Notary with both a red ink signature, my thumbprint ... it used to be done in blood but these days that's considered a biohazard so I'll use a red ink pad that I will supply myself. Over the red ink signature I will write with purple ink pen by hand my signature. This document provides proof the My Name is MY NAME and MY NAME's Social Insurance Number. This document along with the Certified Birth Certificate and my resume will provide proof that I AM me, that I AM over the Age of Majority, that I AM not 'lost at sea; (tie in to the vatican), that I AM competent and that I AM taking control of my Trust.

Once everything is in order I will keep the original documents (I'll have to purchase a fire proof safe) and send copies with a letter to the Ministry of Finance of Canada and Ontario. I'll also send copies to financial institutions I deal with to close any debt accounts I have using funds from MY ACCOUNT.

Every Government issued document has a number on it that has no corresponding heading like Registration Number. It is often found on the back of the document and is often printed in red. These numbers are known as CUSIP numbers and correspond to the bond that was issued to be used as collateral. Every traffic violations you've ever received a summons for, every time you had a charge levied against YOU has one of these CUSIP numbers. These bonds make up your 'value' as chattel.

To date using CUSIP numbers on my documents; Birth Certificate, Drivers License, Health Card and US Social Security card, I have found value of over $800000. Since I no longer have any of the original documents for charges I can't search those but they also add to my 'value'.

It is such a scam!

The Mayan's were right ... the world as we know it is ending. As Billy Bragg says in a few different versions of his song ... Waiting For The Great Leap Forward.

WOW ... I thought I'd finish writing so I got down to a task at hand ... getting a couple of loaves of bread made.

As I was making the first loaf I had the ultimate epiphany ...

My Dad's death, from time to time, has bothered me. At the time of his death they didn't know much about it and is manageable with early detection.

The thoughts I had kneading the dough lead me to my own personal conspiracy ...

I was the last of five kids. My three eldest siblings were baptized while my youngest sister and I weren't. Was my fathers death because he wouldn't comply and enter his last two children into the fold?

I hold his One Penny.

Peace, Love, Understanding and as always with Honour.
